

Arrest, Search & Seizure 2013

How to conceptualize an approach to search and seizure issues

The law of search and seizure as defined by the Supreme Judicial Court and the Appeals Court continues to evolve. This program is designed to train lawyers on the major cases in Massachusetts involving search warrants and searches without a warrant. The faculty discusses recent changes in the law as well as the continuing principles which guide decisions on motions to suppress. Practitioners learn how to analyze situations from experienced criminal law practitioners and a judge, as well as the application of the facts to governing principles of search and seizure. The faculty discusses the law as it relates to search warrants and many of the exceptions to the requirement of a search warrant.
